Katie Sowa

Katie Sowa is the Assistant Director for the Collegiate Entrepreneurs' Organization (CEO), which is the premier entrepreneurship network with chapters on university campuses across the United States and North America, helping to inform, support and inspire college students to be entrepreneurial and seek opportunity through enterprise creation.

Prior to joining CEO, Katie helped found DePaul University's Graduate Entrepreneurs' Organization, the university's first graduate-level entrepreneurship organization. Katie has also worked with many startups and small businesses, including her role as a financial and HR manager for a $6M online electronic refurbishing startup, as well as a consultant for a technology commercialization incubation center. Katie received her MBA from DePaul University in Chicago, IL, USA and her Bachelor's degree in Entrepreneurship from Bradley University in Peoria, IL, USA.
